Slogans Don't Run Diplomacy India Paying the Price for Modi's Foreign Policy

Hyderabad: Telangana Pradesh Mahila Congress Vice President Dr. Rekha Boyalappali has criticised the Union government's foreign policy, stating that India is facing growing diplomatic pressure due to what she termed the hollowness of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's much-publicised external engagement.

In a statement issued on Thursday, Dr. Rekha Boyalappali said that as the United States prepares to impose sanctions on countries continuing to purchase Russian oil, India has been placed in a difficult diplomatic position. She alleged that the Modi government relied more on slogans, photo-op diplomacy and personality-driven narratives than on strengthening institutional and principle-based foreign relations. Recalling the Prime Minister's earlier slogan "Ab ki baar Trump Sarkar," she said the assumption that personal rapport with global leaders could substitute for consistent diplomacy has proven to be misplaced. Foreign policy, she said, cannot be sustained on rhetoric or selective nationalism, but must be built on credibility, predictability and trust.

She further stated that domestic political polarisation and ideological posturing have weakened India's global standing at a time when the international community expects the country to act as a responsible and balancing power. Concluding her remarks, Dr. Rekha Boyalappali said that global leadership is earned through statesmanship and foresight, not proclaimed through slogans, and warned that India is now paying the cost of confusing rhetoric with effective diplomacy.

Wishwaguru vs Reality Check India Confronts Cost of Slogan-Driven Diplomacy

Hyderabad: Telangana Pradesh Mahila Congress Vice President Dr. Rekha Boyalappali on Thursday criticised the Union government's foreign policy, stating that India is facing renewed diplomatic pressure due to what she described as slogan-driven and optics-centric diplomacy under Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

In a statement Dr. Rekha Boyalappali said that as the United States moves forward with a sanctions bill proposing punitive tariffs of up to 500 per cent on countries continuing to import Russian oil, India has once again been placed in a constrained diplomatic position. This development, she said, exposes the fragility of the government's much-publicised foreign policy claims.

She alleged that over the past decade, India's external engagement has focused more on photo opportunities, catchy slogans, and personality-centric narratives rather than on building strong alliances and institutional diplomacy.

Sankranti Cyber Scams on the Rise Citizens Must Stay Alert- Shikha Goel

Hyderabad: Director of the Telangana Cyber Security Bureau (TGCBSB), Shikha Goel has cautioned citizens to remain highly vigilant against cyber frauds and online scams during the upcoming Sankranti festival season, noting a significant rise in cyber-crime during festive periods.

In a press note issued on Thursday, Shikha Goel stated that cybercriminals are exploiting increased digital transactions and online activity by circulating fake Sankranti offers, discounts, and cashback links through WhatsApp, SMS, and social media platforms. She said the Bureau has observed multiple instances of fraud involving bogus festival greetings, prize money claims, lucky draws, fake shopping deals at unusually low prices, and fraudulent travel and ticket booking links.

shared through trusted contacts and family groups, making them appear genuine and significantly increasing the risk of victimisation during the festive season. Advising the public, she urged citizens to avoid clicking on unknown or suspicious festival links, verify purchases and bookings only through official platforms, refrain from installing APK files received through messages, and ensure Two-Factor Authentication is enabled on all critical applications. She stressed that OTPs, PINs, CVV numbers, and verification codes should never be shared with anyone. Citizens who suspect cyber fraud are advised to immediately stop transactions, preserve screenshots and transaction details, inform their banks or payment service providers with-out delay.
